

Workshop on Computational Mathematics and Applied Analysis

Date: April 28 - 29 , 2018

Venue: R202, Astro-Math Bldg., NTU

Aim & Scope:

It has been a main stream in scientific community to combine numerical computation with mathematical analysis to pursue or to resolve scientific problems arising from the physical world. Thus, it is important to have a joint workshop that bears both researchers from computational science and mathematics. This two-day workshop aims exactly to bring the experts from two sides and to initialize the bilateral collaborations and is in honor of the retirement of Prof. I-Liang Chern (National Taiwan University) for his long-standing devotion to the computational and applied mathematics community of Taiwan.
